

Name: _____

Hour: _____

Create a visual board to represent you character. This board should include representations of:

- Physical Style and Looks
 - body type
 - eye color
 - hair length and color
 - make-up
- Clothing Style
 - individual to the character
 - overall society
 - all classes of people
- Personality Traits
 - what color(s) represent you character
 - take a personality test as the character
 - what does it say about him/her?
- Defining Words
 - positive
 - negative
 - neutral
- Lines of text that are representative of the character
- Accessories
 - jewelry
 - items (parasols, briefcases, canes, etc)
- Building Styles
 - building appearances
 - street appearances
 - anything seen outside
- Society
 - what type of society is it?
 - who has power?
 - what is the system of government like?
 - what historical elements are important?

Anything else you think is important. This is a visual assignment. Utilize pictures and colors. These may be drawn (neatly) and/or printed. Make sure that your board is created in a way that is indicative of your character. Is it organized? Is it sloppily put together? Why? Where did you find that information on your character? You should be able to explain every choice on your board and associate it to your character.

Presentation of your board:

You need to explain all aspect of your board. You also need to find something written that your character would read. You will read this text as your character. You need to incorporate everything that you discussed on your board into your rendition of your character. Pay attention to things like posture, vocal placement, personality traits, and nervous movements (if applicable).

Family Tree

Name: _____

Hour: _____

Create a family tree for your character. This should extend at least 3 generations before your character. This is separate from the visual character board, but will be presented at the same time.
